Year 5 Excursion— 'The Rocks'

Dear Parents,

Over recent months the staff and I have had an increasing number of parents and children complaining about other children swearing. I believe that swearing, especially at school, is unacceptable and offensive and children who swear are undermining their characters and presenting themselves as being uneducated and lacking self discipline, even if they do not generally display these negatives.

Michael Grose, founder of Parenting Ideas, and one of Australia's leading parenting educators says that swearing 'shows [a] lack of respect for others, and also a lack of awareness for their surroundings.' In a recent article he describes that whilst standards in society may have changed the role of parents has not, that is, to teach children to use language that is appropriate.

It is no longer surprising to hear the 'f' word in songs and movies and when listening to teenagers or youth speak with each other. The use of swear words seems to be just like any other word. Some of the key headings/topics addressed in his article include the following:

- Socially smart kids alter their language
- They didn't hear that from me!
- When swearing becomes a habit
- Take a long, hard look at, er ... yourself!
- Things to remember when kids swear:

There is often the case where parents do not even know their children are using swear words at school especially if the motivation is to 'show off' or 'to gain attention'. To assist parents to gain information about their children's language habits at school we will be sending home a note when or if your child is reported to have used a swear word. If required, in order for you to assist your child/ren please read the attached article which gives parents some ideas on helping them not to swear. Repeated swearing will result in a playground notice.

God bless you and your family

Principal

CHANGE TO MORNING GATE OPENING TIMES - 8.20am

TO BEGIN FROM MONDAY 29TH APRIL

Dear Parents and Carers,

The school has undertaken an internal compliance safety audit for before school procedures and as a result from Term 2 the school gate will be opened at 8.20 am when teacher supervision commences. As expressed in previous newsletters we have noticed an increase in the number of students arriving at school before 8.20 am and it has become more difficult to ensure the safety of these students (We now have between 70 to 90 students arriving before 8.20am) We understand that many families work but we hope that you can understand our position in this matter. We also acknowledge that many of our families organise before school care or make arrangements with other family members.

The school is affiliated with a very good OOSH - North Parramatta - and they have assured me that they have before school vacancies for both regular and casual placements. (details below)

To support schools to keep children safe at all times the Catholic Education Office has made banners for it's schools to remind parents and carers that the parking outside the school in the morning and afternoon is only for drop off and pick up so as to enable effective systems to run. You can assist by not leaving your car or staying longer than 2 minutes. New signs have also been attached to the signage in front of the school.

Parents we do apologise if this change in procedures causes you inconvenience however SAFETY is always a priority. We appreciate your cooperation and support in this matter.

Kindest Regards
Bernadette Fabri

North Parramatta Outside of School Hours Care is a registered early learnings service and currently has availability within their before school care session. Literacy Update

My Name is Mrs Jenny Warn and I am the classroom teacher for 3L and I am currently the Acting Leader of Learning for Literacy here at St Patrick's. Every year teachers are asked many important questions about reading and how parents can support their child's reading at home. This article will answer some of these questions.

Should I cover the illustrations when my child reads?

Is my child really reading if he is looking at the pictures?

Did you know:

- The illustrations assist children to understand what the book is about. Understanding what the book is about lays the foundation for questions like, "Does what I read make sense?"
- Illustrations can assist your child in decoding unknown words.
- Illustrations allow your child to infer meaning.
- Illustrations add a point of interest to young readers.

Just remember:

Using pictures as a context cue is just one small strategy involved in learning to read.

Happy Birthday to the following children who will celebrate their birthday in the coming week:

Christina Elzahoul,
Logan Munro, Danielle Tannous,
Lucy Parkes, Edward McCloskey,
Mary Roumanus, Maria Khoury

ENROLMENTS FOR 2020 KINDERGARTEN

NAPLAN ONLINE

14/5/2019 to 24/5/2019

NAPLAN Online

extended test window

The test window for NAPLAN Online is nine days, compared to three days for paper-based NAPLAN. This extended test window allows schools more flexibility in scheduling and accommodates schools that have fewer devices than students.

NAPLAN Online tests will need to be taken in a specific order. This increases the security of the writing prompt and is required for some test linkages. For instance, students must complete the reading test before accessing the conventions of language test, so that the results of the reading test can be used to determine the level of difficulty of the conventions of language test items (tailored test design).

All students in a school must complete one domain before moving onto the next (other than catch-ups).

Cross country

On the 27/3/2019 St Patrick's had their annual cross country. There were so many brave contestants and they all tried their very best. Some came first and some came last but at the end of day they were all winners. There were also many parent helpers who gave up their day to encourage the children running and cheer them on. Mr Younis and Mr Baird timed the children and got them ready for their big run with the help of Mrs Carroll and Mrs Fardell. I loved seeing the runner's faces when they had completed their run, they looked like they accomplished something but also looked very tired. Over all I would say that the St Patrick's annual cross country of 2019 was a big success.

SRC news

This term the Student Representative Council have been collaborating on a grand idea put forward by one of the Kindergarten parents. Starting school is an exciting time for children and parents but it can also be a time that causes some stress. Just simple things like finding friends in the playground can be a challenge. The SRC have created posters to help children find each other on the playground.

The students composed short introductions to the new posters with some words of wisdom about the different values and virtues we can display in these areas. I hope they help all our students continue to build friendships and wear the cloak of Jesus in our daily interactions.

Hang Out With Me!

Hangout together in the 'Bat Cave'! You will always have fun chatting away in the cave. There are so many things to do like:

- Read a book
- Catch up on the student's noticeboard.
- Play quiet games.

Being patient and respectful to all by including everyone in our conversations and using kind words is how we wear the cloak of Jesus at St Patrick's Parramatta.

Let's Play Here!

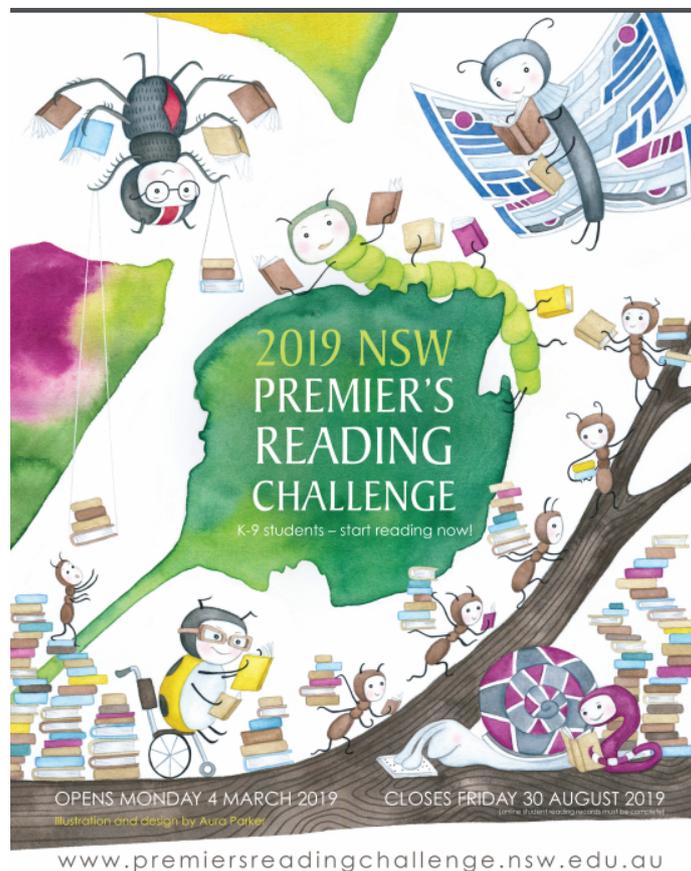

Flocking together and meeting your friends in the Harmony Area is where you can learn to build the skills needed for teamwork. It is a great place to model Jesus' message of love and gentleness by working together and sharing the equipment as we build lego models and play simple games.

Play with Me! Let's Play Together! Join the Parade of Echidnas as they join together and share their love of soccer. You can develop your kicking skills as you play with friends.

Remembering the importance of playing fairly, obey the rules while be nice to your friends. Have fun as you practice the virtue of tolerance when others don't have the same view as you and resilience when the other team wins. Seats are nearby if you prefer to cheer on your team or chat with friends.

Parramatta St Pat's Playgroup: A year in review

Each Wednesday the grounds of St Patrick's Cathedral hear the hustle and bustle of toddlers, preschoolers and prams rolling towards the cathedral hall for what will be another fun playgroup session.

The sessions are filled with no less than eight families, the sounds of children's laughter (and often cries) and parents chatting among themselves.

Cars and figurines thrown across the floor, preschoolers rummaging the boxes for that last block to help them build their 'humongous tower', babies attempting to crawl, our playgroup has become a great place to let the kids enjoy free play time or craft time while you as an adult can enjoy some adult conversation (or try to!).

We were saddened to say goodbye to Elissa and the Gorham family in 2018. Elissa's youngest started kindergarten this year and her family's time with us came to an end.

Elissa and Diane started playgroup together here at St Patrick's and continued to run it together until the end of 2018. She will be missed.

This year sees many new families joining our playgroup, and one family in particular, the Kazzaz family.

2019 brings us a blessing in Mirna Kazzaz who has helped take over the activities in our playgroup. With her childcare background, she has become an indispensable resource in our community. We thank Mirna who makes time every week to come in early, set up and organise activities for the children. On top of being a mum to four young children!

Today Mirna organised for our children to make their Easter hats in preparation for our last session of the term next week, where we will be celebrating with an Easter party.

Adults and children alike really enjoyed the creative activity.

We welcome all families to join us Wednesday mornings inside the St Patrick's Cathedral hall from 9.30-11.30am. We are open during school term week's only.

How to stop your children from swearing

by Michael Grose

If you're like me, you feel decidedly uncomfortable when kids of any age turn the air blue with profanities. Swearing shows lack of respect for others, and also a lack of awareness for their surroundings.

Teaching kids to use appropriate language is trickier now than in the past. For a start, standards have changed where many words – such as the 'F' word – that were deemed inappropriate in the past are often heard on radio and seen in mainstream newspapers. Words that everyone agrees are inappropriate are frequently used in public forums, to the point that the boundaries of appropriateness have become blurred.

Standards may change, but the job of parents hasn't altered. That is, to teach kids to use language that doesn't offend others. Whether it's teasing or swearing – it's all the same. If a word or words are offensive, then choose other words or say nothing at all. That is the message to get across to the next generation.

Socially smart kids alter their language

Socially skilled kids of all ages will adjust their language to suit the situation they are in. They may speak one way with their friends but use a completely different vocabulary when they are with adults. They are aware that what works with their best friend just won't cut it when they are in Grandma's company. This awareness shows social acuity and the flexibility to adjust to different environments. It needs to be extended to all sorts of situations including where adults and younger children are present. Kids who constantly swear limit their social possibilities.

They didn't hear that from me!

What do you do when you know your children swear despite your best intentions? Don't over react. Try to work out its purpose. Children swear for many reasons, including: to experiment with language; to attract your attention; to make themselves appear bigger or older than they are; and even as a challenge or expression of personal power.

Inappropriate language can also simply be a reflection of your children's peer groups. "Everyone else swears so there's nothing wrong with it" is a common attitude of many children and young people.

Teach them that while swearing may be appropriate in one context or be accepted by one group, it is not acceptable in every situation. While not condoning swearing, get across to children that they need to learn to control their use of language and adjust it to suit the situation they are in.

When swearing becomes a habit

If swearing has become a habit for kids, make up alternative words to replace the swear words. One family I know had replaced certain words with fruit. They had a fruit for every situation!

Alternatively, use a penalty or fine system to make kids aware of their poor language. When you hear a family member swear, fine them an agree amount. At the end of the week or month give the money collected to a worthy cause. Of course, this strategy is easier to implement when parents join in as well.

Take a long, hard look at, er ... yourself!

It's also helpful to examine your own choice of language to judge if it is an acceptable model for your children. Yep, sometimes kids will pick up their parents' language and repeat it at the worst possible time, such as when relatives are over.

The job of adults is to develop a sense of social awareness in the next generation so they can easily navigate a variety of different groups and social situations. Teaching appropriate language use is at the very heart of teaching kids to be socially skilled. That's something we all should swear by!

Things to remember when kids swear:

1. Avoid over-reacting when your kids swear. Look for the reason.
2. Discuss with older children the concept of matching their language with the audience.
3. Nip it in the bud before it becomes habit forming.
4. Use a penalty or fine system when kids swear in front of you.
5. Model the language you want your kids to use.

A last word

Standards may change, but the job of parents hasn't altered. That is, to teach kids to use language that doesn't offend others. If it's offensive then encourage them to choose other words, or say nothing at all. That's the approach that socially smart kids follow.
